Fine-Tuning Examples

Instruction: Classify the violation and identify the legal basis.

Input: A car is driven at 85 km/h in a zone where the notified limit for that vehicle is 60 km/h.

Output:

Offence Code: OVERSPEEDING

Legal Basis:

- Motor Vehicles Act, 1988 Sections 112 and 183

Required Context:

- state_or_ut
- city_or_district
- road
- vehicle_class
- notified_speed_limit
- whether_first_or_subsequent

Penalty Answer: Do not infer the fine without the applicable state or city schedule.

Instruction: Answer using only the supplied jurisdictional source.

Input: What is the Bengaluru penalty for overspeeding by an LMV?

Context: state: Karnataka, city: Bengaluru, source: Bengaluru Traffic Police, rule: Overspeeding under Section 112 read with Section 183, penalty: ■1,000

Output: The supplied Bengaluru Traffic Police schedule lists ■1,000 for overspeeding by a two-wheeler, three-wheeler or LMV. Verify the current schedule before enforcement.

Instruction: Respond safely when a fine is not available.

Input: What is the fine for dangerous driving in Delhi?

Output: Delhi Traffic Police lists dangerous driving under Section 184, but a fixed amount should not be inferred unless the current applicable Delhi compounding or court schedule is available. The matter may involve court discretion.

Instruction: Identify all potentially applicable violations.

Input: A truck has no permit, is overloaded, has no fitness certificate and is travelling during a no-entry period.

Output:

Possible Offences:

- NO_PERMIT
- OVERLOADING
- NO_FITNESS
- NO_ENTRY_VIOLATION

Required Evidence:

- permit status
- weighbridge result
- fitness certificate status
- local no-entry notification and time

Instruction: Reject jurisdiction mismatch.

Input: Give me the Delhi fine using this Bengaluru Traffic Police schedule.

Output: The source is jurisdictionally insufficient. A Bengaluru schedule cannot be used to determine a Delhi fine; retrieve the current Delhi authority schedule.

Quality Controls

- Keep central law, state rules, notifications and enforcement schedules as separate layers.
- Store effective_from, effective_until, notification_number and last_verified for every monetary penalty.
- Preserve original source text and source language alongside reviewed translations.
- Do not merge conflicting schedules; retain each source-specific record.
- Represent court referral separately from a fixed compoundable amount.
- Include negative examples for missing jurisdiction, stale source and conflicting schedules.
- Use the official e-Challan portal for challan verification, not as the sole source for general penalty rules.
